The Orange exhibition is the logical and exciting continuation of the great beginning of the series of exhibitions Red Rock started with the Red Show. Yes, we are following ROYGBIV and the spectrum.

As a curator, I am thrilled to see how the theme of color, emotion, and even the subject as interpreted by artists from all across the globe and simultaneously united by the brilliant soft pastel medium and the theme, Orange.

Orange is not a primary color but is a very primal one on a sensory level. It combines the warmth of the fire and the potential danger from it. What comes to mind when you hear "orange"? Is it juicy citrus or the glow of the Red Rocks at the golden hour? Everyone responds differently. We invite you on the visual journey through our exhibition Orange, where 60 artists presenting 65 pieces provide their unique perception of the theme "Orange". This time, in addition, we also included the select pieces by our esteemed jurors, Margaret Larlham, Corey Pitkin, Halla Shafey, and our distinguished judge, Albert Handell.

Join us as we celebrate the brilliant medium of soft pastels and the color orange!
